What is a typical Patient Purchase Limit Amount equal to?

If a patient has the typical Patient Purchase Limit Amount, they can buy 2.5 ounces of flower (or pre-rolls). 2.5 oz is equal to 70.87 grams of flower, or 70 pre-rolls (1 gram each) over 14 days.

The typical Patient Purchase Limit Amount (2.5 oz flower) equals 21,300mg of THC in edibles or beverages. 21,300mg is equal to 213 packages with 100mg THC.

The typical Patient Purchase Limit Amount (2.5 oz flower) equals 21.3 grams of THC in vapes or concentrates. 21.3g is equal to about 28 vapes of 1 gram and 75% THC.

Minor qualifying patients are limited to only cannabis-infused products.

Medical Cannabis Limits, Explained

The Patient Purchase Limit Amount is typically 2.5 ounces of cannabis flower. The current Available Purchase Amount is calculated as the Patient Purchase Limit Amount minus the Total Amount Purchased within the last 14 days. Limit amounts can be increased by a Health Care Provider with a waiver for increased allotment.

THERE IS JUST ONE LIMIT, AND IT HAS NOT CHANGED: the Total Amount Purchased includes all flower, pre-rolls, vapes, edibles, oils, and all cannabis products. For flower, the weight of flower deducts from the limit (EX: 1g pre-roll deducts 1g from the limit). Purchases of cannabis-infused products and concentrates count as the pre-mixed weight of flower used to make the product.

The relationship between product types are shown below.

3.327 g of flower equals

1,000 mg of THC edibles

1 g of THC concentrates

Limit amounts can be adjusted by a Health Care Provider by submitting a waiver for increased allotment.

All flower, pre-rolls, vapes, edibles, oils, and all cannabis products get counted against the one limit. For flower, the weight of flower deducts from the limit (EX: 1g pre-roll deducts 1g from the limit). Purchases of cannabis-infused products and concentrates count as the pre-mixed weight of flower used to make the product.

The tables above show how much could be purchased. If a patient buys concentrates and edibles, all get deducted from the one limit.
